

NYLT : THE PROGRAM STARTS

Patrols

All the patrols have settled in pretty well. A few schedule changes cut the patrol site time, so not everyone is fully set up. The patrols are made up of kids about the same age and no one really knows anyone else in their patrol. This helps them become better leaders because if they can work well together then they can work with anyone.

Staff

The staff has been working since January to make this week the best it can be. We have developed a bond where we want all of us to succeed and to succeed together. We as a staff have devoted many hours so that we not only succeed as one person but together. We have not only the confidence but the will to see all the participants succeed at the highest level they can.

Movie Night

Due to weather the schedule had to be changed. While the movie was scheduled for Monday, the intense rain and storms made it so we had to switch the movie and the opening campfire. The movie we watched was Interstellar. This goes along with our theme of space, it was a great movie for the program because it matches almost everything that NYLT teaches. Everything isn't super easy to pick out but if you think about it and you'll be able to see it's all about leadership and team work.

Presentations

Even though there have been only two presentations we have jumped right into what our visions are and our code of conduct. They were the first two of a number of extremely helpful and beneficial presentations.

Cutter Beck

Cutter is one of the two Youth Quarter Masters. He's a Life Scout from troop 165 and is 15 years old. Cutter loves to eat lobster and watch the Martin. In his free time he enjoys web design.

Quest

This is the staff flag from our quest. Along with our song, cheer, and skit that were or will be presented today. Our staffs song was based of the song "Star Man" by David Bowie. As the weather caused us to change the schedule so the staff could have opening campfire in dry good weather. Every patrol will at some point will present their quest to our NYLT troop. Their quests just like our will have a song, cheer, name, and skit.

Bennett Decoteau

Bennett is the Assistant Senior Patrol Leader in charge of service patrol. He's an Eagle Scout from troop 260 and is 16 years old. He enjoys video game designing and Iron Man. He'll have spaghetti and meatballs anytime.
